Laugh Out Loud Joke Activities

Brighten up your library collection!

Make a book collection of jokes and riddles. Include some old ones, and say where they come from. Illustrate and publish your collection and put it in the school library.

Try including some of the following:

- Jokes that rely on wordplay
- 'Knock knock' jokes
- Jokes or riddles on a particular topic, such as animals, food or school.

My favourite joke:

Alphabet frieze

Make a list of words to do with humour, eg tickle, laugh, or joke. Try to think of at least one word for each letter of the alphabet (if you can't, make one up!!). Place each word on a separate piece of paper and decorate it. Hang them around your classroom in alphabetically order to cheer up your day!

Can't you take a joke?

Think about a time when someone said that to you. How did you feel? Was it funny? Write a letter to this person describing how you felt and why you think we need to be considerate of others when joking around. Decide whether to rip u the letter or send it.
