HOME ALONE SAFETY

You are home alone—choose the best response to each of the situations represented below.

'Good afternoon, young lady. I am from an interior design company. Can I please come in and look around your home? I would like to give you a free quote to have your lounge room repainted.'

'Sure, come in. The lounge room is this way.'

'Sorry, but Mum and Dad are busy out the back at the moment. Can you come back in a few hours?'

'No. I am home by myself at the moment. Can you come back in two hours when Mum gets home from work?'

'Hello, I am calling to find out information about families in your area. Can you answer some questions about your family?'

'No, sorry. I am the only one home at the moment. Dad will be home in two hours, can you call back then?'

'Sorry, but Dad is out mowing the lawn and he said he didn't want to be interrupted. He will be free in an hour if you want to call back then.'

'Sure, what would you like to know?'

'Hello there, I am from a pest control company and I was wondering if I could come over and look at your house and talk to you about our special offer?'

'Sure, come over, I'll be home.'

'Yes, that's fine. My parents will be home soon.'

'Mum and Dad are both busy at the moment but I'll get them to call you back in half an hour.'

You are home alone—what would you say if ...

Someone calls you and asks you to meet them at the shops to pick up a parcel. You don't know anything about this parcel.

Someone rings to deliver a package from the pet store with your name on it but you don't have a pet.

Someone comes to the front door and wants to take a photograph of your backyard for a magazine.
